Biography

Barry has a degree in Mechanical Engineering, and he was involved in product specifications in the steel industry. He continued his career in financial services and did a lot of work in the insurance industry. His 30 plus years of experience has led him to Riverview Homes, where he started as a Sales Consultant at the Prospect sales center in 2007.

In his words, "My unique background coupled with Riverview's position in the manufactured home industry allows me to do the best possible job when helping clients select and finance a new manufactured home."
